Kenosha—(P)—Mrs. Rebecca Jones Appleton, 57, oldest alumnus of the Kenosha high school and member of its first graduating class in 1867, is dead at her home in Hobart, Ind., according to news despatches reaching Kenosha Friday morning. She is the wife of the Rev. L. W. Appleton of Hobart. Despite her advanced years, she has retained regularity to Kenosha for a annual attendance of the high school alumni association.

VOCATIONAL SCHOOL CLASSES REOPENED

Chandler Says Registrations Will Be Accepted Until Classes Are Filled

Second period classes at Appleton vocational night school began this week, according to E. P. Chandler, supervisor of the school who said registrations will be accepted until all classes are considered closed. One new class in plumbing has already started and two others will begin before the end of the month.

The plumbing class met Wednesday evening with F. O. Maders in charge. This is the third year classes in plumbing have been held. They are open to journeymen and master plumbers. The class in use of the slide rule will begin as soon as rules arrive, according to Mr. Chandler, and announcements relating to the date of the first meeting will be sent to the 55 persons who have enrolled.

In the home making department there are openings for persons wishing to enroll in the following classes: Millinery, meeting on Monday nights; cutting and fitting, meeting Tuesday nights; plain sewing and plain cooking, Monday night classes; renovation, Tuesday nights; meal planning, elementary sewing, and children's sewing, Thursday nights.

Trade and industry classes in which persons may enroll for the coming term are machine shop, plumbing, drafting, mechanical drawing, blue print reading, shop mathematics, and printing. Openings in the commercial department are in the accounting, typewriting, shorthand, show card writing, and business English classes.

Among the miscellaneous classes in which students will be accepted are two courses in English for foreigners, arithmetic, public speaking and algebra. Registrations in all classes may be made any evening at the school.

SIGMAN RETURNS FROM FISHERMEN'S MEETING

Samuel Sigman, local attorney and director-counsel of the Wisconsin Federation of Commercial Fishermen, returned from Milwaukee Wednesday where he had attended a meeting of the board of directors of that organization last week. Plans for meetings in Sheboygan and Milwaukee were made. Fishermen from Racine and Kenosha will attend the Milwaukee gathering. Both the meetings are to be held later this month. The progress of organization was discussed and plans of organizing local chapters in the northern part of the state in the vicinity of Kenosha and Washington Island were made. Directors from Two Rivers, Sheboygan, Port Washington, and Kenosha attended the meeting. The next director's meeting will be held in Port Washington on March 31.

56 FAMILIES GIVEN AID BY CITY DURING MONTH

Care of the poor of the city of Appleton cost $1016.77 for the month of November, according to the report of E. G. Schaefer, commissioner of poor, presented to members of the city council Wednesday night.

Fuel was the largest single item, $227.13 being spent for that amount. Groceries was next with $151.16. A total of 56 families were given aid during the month and 19 inmates of the city, home-sick for.

State Hospital school at St. Paul; Dr. C. G. Busch, superintendent of Wisconsin General Hospital, Madison; M. M. Duell, Fond du Lac county committee chairman; Harvey G. Stewart, chairman of the state committee for Crippled Children and representative of Elk club, Green Bay, will be some of the principle speakers.

An Old Recipe to Darken Hair

By JANICE RANDALL

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wreth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients, for only 75 cents. Everybody uses this preparation now, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger.

How Was 1927 Business?

Volume of business by Schaefer Hardware company during 1927 was larger than that of the year previous and larger than any other year in the history of the organization, according to O. P. Schaefer, president of the organization. Increased sales efforts was given as one reason for the larger volume of business enabling the company to go far over the ordinary increase in business for the year.

Dividing the year into quarters Mr. Schaefer said that the last three periods were the best. During the first three months of the year the hardware business is always slow because of general inactivity in building and construction lines. Beginning the spring season with usual building activity, business began to pick up and carried on very well through the months to the last period. Because of favorable weather during these last few months general activities continued and with the enormous Christmas sales made the whole year more satisfactory than 1926.

Mr. Schaefer believes there has been too much production in practically every line of business for the last year or two and increased sales activity has been necessary for an organization to carry on successfully. He believes competition is keener and Beck of St. Paul is chairman of the committee.

BOARD DOES NOT ACT ON CERTIFICATE SALE

No action was taken by the board of directors of the Appleton Electric Appliance Co. at the meeting of the board held Wednesday afternoon. The board was appointed to consider the sale of the company's stock at a price of $100 per share. The board will meet again on January 13 to consider the matter.

SPORTS NEWS OF NEENAH AND MENASHA SOCIETY

TWO KIWANIS CLUBS
INSTALL OFFICERS
AT JOINT MEETING

Interesting Program Is Presented at Meeting of Civic Clubs at Hotel Menasha

Menasha — With J. L. Johns of Appleton retiring district governor, acting installing officers and with 109 members and their ladies present, the joint installation of the new officers of the Menasha and Neenah Kiwanis clubs at Hotel Menasha Thursday evening was one of the leading social events of the winter. The program opened with a 7 o'clock dinner and closed with dancing at the Elks club.

Former President E. H. Sonnenberg presided at the opening but soon turned matters over to Mr. Johns. During the dinner hour selections were rendered by the Neenah quartet, composed of William Daniels, C. O. and G. W. Collip and Marvin Garfield who did the "broadcasting" at Milwaukee early in the week and by the American Legion Auxiliary Trio composed of Mrs. F. J. Schneller, Mrs. Fay Peeters and Mrs. Arthur McLeod. The band was situated at the piano by Emlyn Owen and the trio was assisted by Mrs. James Fritsen. The Menasha officers installed by the district governor were: President George D. Barnes; vice president, E. J. Schmitzer; treasurer, R. L. Parkratz; secretary, David Green; district trustee, W. H. Nelson; Neenah officers: President, Dr. T. J. Seiler; vice president, Elmer Herbert; secretary, Otto Liebert; treasurer, William Campbell; district trustee, Elmer Herbert.

The installation was followed by speeches of acceptance by President George D. Barnes of the Menasha club and by Dr. T. J. Seiler of the Neenah club. The former emphasized the part Kiwanis was taking in public benefits and the latter reviewed the work accomplished by Kiwanis during the last year. The Rev. Joseph Barrett of Oshkosh, was the principal speaker and gave an interesting account of his trip to the American Legion convention at Paris last fall. Music during the dinner and at the dance that followed at the Elks club was furnished by the Felix orchestra.

WHEELER IS BASKING
IN FLORIDA SUNSHINE

Menasha—William J. Hohn has received a letter from W. L. Wheeler, president of the Wheeler Transfer and Storage company who is spending the winter at St. Petersburg, Fla., to the effect that the city is filling up rapidly with winter tourists from the northern states. While it is not expected there will be any shortage of accommodations the indications are that about all the desirable quarters will be occupied before the winter is over. The weather is warm and pleasant, according to Mr. Wheeler.

YOUNGSTER IMPROVING IN EASTERN HOSPITAL

Menasha—Norman Zisch, 8, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Zisch, Leavenworth, who has been receiving treatment at a hospital in Detroit for the last year, is thought to be gradually improving. ARRANGE DATES FOR ANNUAL CAGE GAMES
BY NEENAH-MENASHA

Last Fridays in January and February Set for Clashes Between Rivals

Menasha — J. E. Klonowski, superintendent of schools, announced Friday morning that all details regarding the two annual Twin City high school basketball games were arranged between Coach Calder and Coach Jorgenson. Formerly one game was known as Neenah's game, inasmuch as the local receipts went to one school or the other. A new arrangement has been made whereby receipts from the games will be a 50-50 proposition after all expenses are paid. Sam H. H. Smith, Antigo, a member of the state board of control of the Wisconsin Inter-school Athletic Association, will referee the first game and Coach Calder at Neenah and Coach Jorgenson at Menasha.

It was also decided to arrange the annual games on the 1st Friday of January and the last Friday of February. This will make it convenient for the public to remember the date of the annual event. For the convenience of the spectators the basketball games will be held at the Neenah high school manual arts department for the new year. The Neenah gymnasium may be used for the Menasha game.

WAUSAU COMPANY SUE FOR DEATH AT NEENAH

Neenah — A demand for a complaint in the case of Frank E. Thakke, of Neenah, against the Wausau Iron Works company, was argued Thursday morning before Circuit Judge Hallinger. The case has not been placed on the calendar for trial. Mr. Thakke brought suit as administrator of the estate of his wife, Caroline Thakke. It is alleged that her death was caused by injuries received as a result of bumping her head on a portion of a superstructure on a crane on a Neenah bridge built in 1926 by the defendant company. The plaintiff asks for $12,500. The judge took the demurrer under advisement.

NO PROGRESS TOWARD MUNICIPAL AIRPORT

Council Committee Is Incorporated in Chamber Board Studying Project

No progress was made toward establishment of an airport here at the meeting of the chamber of commerce airport committee Thursday afternoon. Acting on the suggestion of Alderman John Dillworth, a member of the chamber of commerce committee, the airport committee recently appointed by the common council, was made a part of the chamber board. Mr. Dillworth has opposed the airport in the council because he believes the city is not financially able to take over the project and it is said he agrees with Mayor A. C. Rule that there is no allotment in the city budget for an expenditure of $50,000 for an airport.

It was said at the meeting Thursday that a liberal estimate of the cost of an airport is $400,000 and Alderman Thompson, a member of the chamber airport committee, suggested that the land could be obtained on option of the city at a low cost.

Other members of the city council committee are Aldermen Chamberlain and Vanderhyden. Each of whom have expressed themselves as being favorable toward the project.

That air activities will increase during the present year than ever before was intimated at the meeting Thursday. Karl Haugen said he knew of an Appleton man who was ready to invest $100,000 in a project if he could assured of cooperation.

It is definitely known that another firm will put in one or more ships for the training of students as soon as the weather will permit and the plan of the Royal Airways, Inc., of Madison to include this city in their passenger lines this spring is still pending.

Acting Postmaster Fred Felix Watson said that air mail for Appleton is not far off and that a private enterprise may be formed to handle the project if nothing is done by the chamber council.

Haugen said there were several Appleton men who probably would buy airplanes and operate them from here if a municipal port is established.

FORMER DAIRY MEN ARE FREED ON WRIT

Kading and Jacquot Will Be Given Hearing on Habeas Corpus Writ Friday

Martin Kading and W. W. Jacquot, president and secretary of the former Valley Dairy Products company of Appleton which has gone into bankruptcy, were freed Thursday morning on a temporary writ of habeas corpus issued by Judge Edgar V. Werner in circuit court after the men had been bound over for trial by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court. The charge against the pair is issuing worthless checks.

Judge Berg decided there was sufficient grounds to hold the two for trial but they immediately appealed his decision to circuit court and Judge Werner granted a temporary writ. Whether the writ will be made permanent is to be decided at a hearing in circuit court Friday afternoon.

The specific charge against the two men is brought by Thomas Dornes, a farmer who received a check for $153.75 for milk which he sold to the company. He said there was no money in the bank to pay the checks. Similar checks were issued to more than 60 other farmers, it is said and these checks are in the hands of the district attorney.

The two defendants claim they are not criminally liable contending that by paying the farmers with checks when they had no funds in the bank they did not change the status of the debts.

HELD FOR MANSLAUGHTER BECAUSE HE SOLD BOUZE

Marinette—(6)—Frank Gall of Beaver, Marinette-co., was arrested in a warrant charging him with fourth degree manslaughter in connection with the death of Valentine Baronek, 21, killed Dec. 21, when struck by a train. Gall is charged with selling liquor to Baronek as a result of which Baronek staggered in front of the train. Gall was arraigned in justice court Thursday afternoon and released on bonds of $1,000.

A COMMUNITY CHEST
Directors of the chamber of commerce at their last meeting adopted as a "plank" in this year's program the organization of a community chest which they hope will result in combining all or nearly all of the charity campaigns into one large and intensive collection of money in which all organizations worthy of support will share. The community chest idea is not new; it has been used successfully in a large number of American cities and in most instances businessmen who collect and give the money and the organizations which benefit from it are well satisfied.

Most or all of the purposes for which money is raised here are worthy of all the support that can be given them and there is nothing wrong in organizing campaigns to collect money for them. Funds must be provided and campaigns and drives thus far have offered the only feasible means.

But these frequent and intermittent drives have been a heavy burden on the men and women who raise the money and who give it. It is not at all unusual for men to be called upon to solicit money in from four to six campaigns a year and if they give only a day to each cause they sacrifice almost a week from their business. This great economic loss long has been realized and leaders in the community have been casting about for a simpler way of providing money required for the support of civic and quasi-civic organizations.

Appleton easily can learn from the experiences of these other cities and can set up an organization which will avoid the difficulties which others encountered. The chamber of commerce undoubtedly will receive the support of the hundreds of men upon whom the present "system" of collecting money is an undue burden and it is the hope of most of them that the organization be set up as soon as possible.

The success or failure of the community chest of course will depend upon the care used in organizing, in determining who should share in the money raised and the amount each organization should receive. There no doubt will be a tendency on the part of some organizations to put in requests for as much money as they would like to receive rather than for the amount they actually need and it will be necessary to empower administrators of the fund to apportion the money in accordance with actual need and not with desires. There are no doubt a large number of administrative details that must be worked out but they offer no unusual difficulty. The general plan is worthy of commendation and if the chamber of commerce can establish the community chest in 1928 it will have accomplished a thoroughly worthwhile task.

MENTAL TESTS
Psychology tests are mostly hokum, says Dr. H. M. Johnson of the Mellon Institute of Industrial Research, to a gathering of American psychologists. He maintains that most of the so-called intelligence tests given nowadays are only 8 to 15 per cent effective. Psychology, in its efforts to become a practical science is resorting to bluff and "sorcery."

"By what method," he asks the psychologists, "by what they hope to measure the immeasurable?"
"Can a person's interest in a lecture be measured by the time he refrains from blinking?"
"Can one tell whether a dog has ideas by noting whether it behaves along lines we have decided to call ideal?"
"Can one tell how much pain an earthworm suffers from an electric shock by noting the time the worm takes in getting away from the contact?"

If he asks us, we are frank to say we do not know. Also that we doubt whether anybody knows. The practical psychologists evidently have some good ideas, but they are pushing them too hard and often drawing conclusions about school pupils and college students and factory and store employees that are unjustified. Even with the ingenious keys they have devised, it is hard to get inside of human minds, and still harder to get inside of animal minds.

MR. KELLOGG'S PROPOSAL
Secretary of State Kellogg's response to M. Briand's proposal that France and the United States forever outlaw war is in the nature of a counter-proposal to include all of the great powers in a modified agreement of the same character. Mr. Kellogg rightly says that the United States cannot bind itself to never engage in war. No nation can do this, but all nations can go so far in peaceful engagements as to make war morally impossible. Mr. Kellogg's plan is to have the principal nations agree to "condemn war and renounce it as an instrument of national policy in favor of the pacific settlement of international disputes."

There are skeptics who will maintain that treaties embracing the above declarations would afford no guarantee against war and technically they are correct, for that would necessarily leave each nation free to determine its own exceptions to the general bond, and to make war when it chooses. But the moral effects would go far toward restricting this freedom. As time went on and the instruments of peaceful understanding were strengthened and put into use, war would be possible only under the most extreme circumstances. Even without machinery or specified methods for enforcing the treaty, a nation would have to be reckless indeed to violate its spirit and purpose. The chief value of the treaty would lie in the fact that it expressed the true wish of peoples and governments for peace.

For the first time in the history of the world the question of permanent peace has forced itself on the attention of statesmen and rulers. It will not down. The conversations now in progress between France and the United States are symptomatic of the universal demand for concrete measures for the outlawing of war. For nearly ten years now nations have been "freshing about in sea" of the road to peace. Incidents are following one upon another which warrant the belief that they are going to find it. The leadership should come from the United States. M. Briand's proposal was a bold bid for that leadership. Perhaps it will be exercised by the two nations jointly.

POSTAL TORPEDOES
Paris tells of a new French plan for expediting mail delivery. It contemplates the use of an "aerial torpedo." This torpedo would not be literally fired through the air like the long-range German shells which bombarded Paris during the war. But it would have almost the speed of such a projectile, traveling at 250 miles an hour and suspended on wires, and driven by electricity. Every shell would carry about 50 pounds of letters and other important mail matter.

It is not the proposal of some mere theorist, but is soberly recommended by the government's chief engineer of aeronautics, the chief engineer of an important railroad and a professor of the Polytechnic Institute. Such a line, they say, could be built for about $6,000 a mile. It would span the country in two and a half hours.

The mechanical idea is not exactly new. Twenty years ago Tom L. Johnson, then mayor of Cleveland, who had operated electric traction lines in Brooklyn and elsewhere, was working on a system by which passengers were to be transported in trolley cars slung from single rails, up in the air, at a speed of 100 to 200 miles an hour. It is the same mechanical principle that is often used in cash-carrying systems in American stores.

Doubtless it is practical enough to ship mail matter in that way. But won't airplanes soon serve the purpose adequately?

A few days ago, writes a reader, our son was badly scared by a huge and vicious police dog. The dog came bounding at him, barking loudly and continuously until he landed against the boy, turned and ran in another direction. The dog did not bite the child, but just scared him blue. The child cried bitterly for some time before he could be calmed. Prior to this, the boy, just 2 years old, was always fond of dogs and cats, but since this experience he cringes with fear at the sight of them, he they barks or police dogs. He spots them a block away and immediately starts crying. At times during the night in his sleep he emits loud curdling screams and cries "Woo-woo!" (his way of calling a dog). This is really his first scare and ours too. What method would you suggest to overcome this great fear? In these days when so many people prefer four footed pets to bimbos, this may be a topic of general interest.

It is natural enough that the child was frightened by the threatening onset of the dog, but it is abnormal that the happening should have the child obsessed with the fear of dogs.
It is difficult to judge from the correspondence whether the parent himself likes dogs or dislikes them. Let us assume that the boy's father doesn't like dogs. In the same sense the mother, the police dog would scare father even more than it scared son. Police dogs are sometimes vicious and dangerous when allowed to run free, but as a rule these dogs show a remarkably kind disposition and are particularly friendly and patient with children. It seems obvious that the dog in this instance was playing in the bounding, galloping way of the breed. Now if the child's mother would be afraid of this dog or of dogs in general, it would be almost impossible for him to conceal his fear from the child. If father or mother is afraid of anything, the child will inevitably be afraid of it, too. This is most characteristically manifested in the popular fear of snakes—regardless of the capacity of the snake to do any harm. If parents dislike or fear snakes irrespective of the kind of snake, it will require very careful education to relieve children of the same vivid and cruel fear. By which proper education the child of parents who fear snakes may learn not only not to fear them but perhaps to like them and admire them for their beauty and natural interest.

I think the very best thing that could be done for this little boy would be to buy him a puppy for his very own and especially a puppy that a child just naturally likes, as children like toy dogs, rocking horses and other animal toys. If the child's days are filled with the delightful antics of his own little dog, his dreams at night will be pleasant dreams.
Of course, it is most likely that the night terrors of this child have no connection with the dog incident at all. Rather the nightmare is due to some impairment of health or some fault of hygiene. But anyhow I should advise that the parents get a dog for this boy and teach him to take care of his dog. He can be kind to it, and know the joy that such a pet brings a boy.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Radium Hokum
I have started to take radium chloride for high blood pressure. I have a bad case of this. My doctor says he doesn't look for much result from it... (C. S. J.)
Answer—I don't see what benefit you could hope for. If high blood pressure is all that ails you, why bother with any treatment? If you have some disease you ought to receive such treatment as may be required. It is silly to think to monkey with radium in that way, and it is worse to be bamboozled by the various radium fakes that bewitch so many unsophisticated customers.
Antiquity of Disease
Can you give me any idea as to how long people have been subject to cancer, gallstones and high blood pressure? Are not these modern diseases? (G. D.)
Cancer was probably one of the many diseases called "leprosy" in ancient times. Gallstones prevailed in King Tut's time. High blood pressure is not a disease, but doubtless this symptom has always occurred as long as the history of the disease which gives rise to it.
Um Paul
My brother Paul, 16 years old, has a pair of feet that "ave a very disagreeable odor. He has recently been wearing shoes with crepe rubber soles. He also wears rubber gym shoes a good deal. (G. A. H.)
Answer—I don't think your case is objectionable. Let Paul send a stamped envelope bearing his address and ask for instructions for the control of foul sweating of the feet.

LIBRARY ADVENTURES
By Arnold Mulder

THE LOST MEMOIRS OF HENDRICH HEINE
When Hendrich Heine lay on his deathbed he lay there about a dozen years while he was slowly dying—he wrote the story of his life, carefully guarding the manuscript in a black iron box and refusing to show it to anyone. But he talked freely about it and he so inspired his relatives with terror of what the memoirs might contain about them that only a small fragment has come down to us in spite of the care with which Heine guarded it while he was still alive. The rest has disappeared. Lewis Browne, whose new life of the poet, "That Man Heine," has recently been published, thinks the relatives destroyed it.
Browne reports that at one time, referring to the "Memoirs," Heine spoke of himself as "the Great Easterner," and boasted that when the book would be published all his foes would be stricken like so many bedbugs destroyed by an insecticide. And at another time he said of himself, "Heine does not die like one of the mob; the tiger's claws will rend and tear even after the tiger is dead!" No wonder his relatives feared the "Memoirs."
Once Heine's brother Max had a chance to see the manuscript for a moment and he hastily tore out several pages that presumably referred to himself and threw them on the fire. Lewis Browne thinks that all the other relatives did the same after Heine's death and that that is the reason why we have only a small fragment that refers to the poet's boyhood and is therefore innocuous.
It seems a great pity that Heine's "Memoirs" were not allowed to come down to us. He was unquestionably a man of genius and the fragment we have makes us quite certain that the "Memoirs" was a work of genius. Such books are so scarce that the world can hardly afford to lose one of them, no matter how many repetitions it would have to be made. The relatives who had power to destroy the book are nothing to us three quarters of a century after Heine's death. They were merely rich and had an assured position in the society of their day. Even if they had lost both money and position, there would have been no real suffering, loss to the world; but the fact that a great book was destroyed constitutes a loss that can never be made up.
Not that the relatives are to be blamed. You and I would probably do the very same thing under the same conditions. No one likes to have his reputation blasted, his position in society jeopardized, even if a genius does it. We would all fight like tigers against it and would destroy the greatest work of genius to prevent it. Nor is it even likely that Heine was justified in his attacks, at least not wholly so. He was a great genius but it is hard to maintain that he was a good man. His relatives were no angels either but an unbiased examination of the facts, as Lewis Browne presents them in "That Man Heine," makes one feel that much is to be said for these relatives. Heine unquestionably sponged on them and thought nothing of insulting them to boot. He was highly vindictive and he used his great genius freely to take vengeance on his enemies. He was exceedingly without conscience where enemies were concerned and looking at the matter from the point of view of the right and the wrong of it, his enemies, especially the members of his own family, are hardly to be blamed for being conscience after he was dead and clipping the tiger's claws as soon as the breath was out of his body. Moreover, Browne's theory is that Heine wrote the book as a kind of posthumous blackmail. He wanted his wealthy relatives to provide for his wife and he calculated that if she had this dangerous manuscript in her position she could force them to support her.

From the relatives' point of view it was all a dastardly piece of work and they had a perfect right to destroy it. But the world does not care for individual reputations or about the motives that inspired a writer. From the world's point of view there is nothing that can justify the destruction of a great work of art. We would give a great deal today to have Heine's lost "Memoirs." The fragment we have shows it would have been no less great for having been inspired by motives of revenge and malice.

DAILY HINTS FOR HEALTH
DOES INFLUENZA INCREASE TOLL OF TUBERCULOSIS?
BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEN
Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine
Since the great influenza epidemic of 1918 and 1919, physicians and statisticians have been attempting to determine the extent to which the amount of tuberculosis was increased by the attacks on lung tissue made by influenza.
They also have endeavored to determine the extent to which persons with tuberculosis suffered as compared with the amount suffered by those who did not have that disease.
COMPLICATION
A complete survey of the subject recently made by the University of Chicago indicates that influenza, as any other infectious disease is a serious complication of tuberculosis and that a person who may be recovering from the disease who is afflicted with influenza may have his tuberculosis aggravated.
Hence there has not been an increase of the death rates from tubercu-

See-Sawing On Broadway
By Gilbert Swan
New York — In all the Broadway big parade no individual or group struggle against greater odds than the "chorus boy."
The very term is one long connected with cranks, jokes and unpleasant remarks. The "chorus boy" wandering from their $7.50 salary have only contemptuous comments for chorus men, whatever their ability. Their opportunities for making in their profession are limited, since few care to give them a hearing, if they are ahead, it is only after some living through obstacles and living down by virtue of strong personality and perseverance, the reputation for efficiency.
Yet all chorus men are not effeminate. A youth like a girl, must start somewhere if he is going to crash the theatrical scene. I have known more than one young man who suffered endless heartache through social treatment that followed a chorus job.
Now and then one does hear of real successes won by chorus boys, though they do not attract one-fourth the attention of a chorus girl who comes into public notice.
One of the foremost dance directors in Broadway today is a youth of 25 years, from a chorus outfit. When he had gained the desired experience, he went west, winning in St. Louis. There he took charge of special presentations for a film theater and soon was staging, organizing and owning dancing units for a movie theatre chain. Today he is organizer and owner of one of the most spectacular dancing circuits on Broadway. Five years ago he was working with an Earl Carroll show. Yes, the boys do get along once in a while. But it's one of the hardest fights on Broadway. Most of them never get out.
Which reminds me that a leading dance instructor now has a list of 3,000 chorus boys on his books, all of whom are on call.
Handling so vast a stock of "chorus of the ensemble," this eminent Broadway informant, keeps one rather well acquainted with the changing styles in chorus girls. The old gold-digger is no longer desired, he tells me, Broadway has recovered from the notion that a chorus must be rough. Now a girl must be able to look and legs; they must be able to dance and protect personality. There is, to date, no great insistence that they be able to sing.
The story is told of a musical comedy dance director who suddenly discovered that a chorus girl could really sing. He stopped proceedings at once and, murmuring his astonishment, called the young lady over. "There's something wrong," you can sing!" he exclaimed. The young lady thanked him.
"I'm afraid you won't do. You're show the rest of the girls up. And you can sing so well that I'm sure you can't dance." Fearfully the young lady left the stage, but before the performance went on she had a small singing role. The other night, playing at a theater program, I noticed that the prima donna was this same young woman. She had been "too good" to be a chorus. Which is rather a funny way of looking at things, isn't it?

You Can't Make A Mistake

BEAUTY HOW AND WHY

BY ANN AYLIS

TO be admired is not necessarily to be beautiful. It is to be beautiful in the particular land which we see exemplified in the paintings of the old masters in that day only those of wealthy aristocratic class could afford to have their portraits painted. And so is the well recognized artistic type.

When some one tells us that we show such characteristics in our hands we are immensely flattered. We like to think that we show our blue blood or our artistic leanings. But the rather broad, square fingered hand of the capable man or woman, or the fine sensitive hand of the surgeon, or the clever taloned characteristic of the business woman's hand are all good in their own different ways. But if the hand is poorly cared for and unadorned it reveals a slight character, no matter how beautifully shaped it may be.

NEW HATS New hats have a twist and turn in odd ways to get off the face. Feather bands, one apt to accentuate unusual angles.

NUGGET JEWELRY Rough nuggets of gold, carved crudely at the mine, are set in intricately engraved platinum rings and pins, as a new Parisian fad.

Metal Jersey, Tweed, Plaid And Dotted Jerseys May Go To Tea And Lunch At Any Smart Place, Fashion Says

BY HENRI BENDEL

New York—Novelty jersey is coming into vogue right now for far more formal types of costumes that it has been wont to fashion.

The little suit of imported jersey is a new importance. No longer merely sportive. By unusual cut and combinations of material, the jersey suit becomes quite chic enough to wear at the five or six o'clock tea at other smart places.

METAL JERSEY Metal jersey is now used extensively. But the new spring jersey materials, with metal threads giving their softness high lights, are extremely beautiful. New jersey trends insinuate their loveliness into the cool traces of Dame Fashion while novelty jerseys in new designs are extremely smart.

With the skirt and the jacket of new jersey suits show individuality. The coats are a new note and are especially becoming to very slender women. Sleeves, cuffs and collar take unusual lines for modish effects. Skirts all have fullness of one kind or another, with the method of achieving this reflecting much in design.

THREE DIFFERENT TYPES I show today three extremely different types of the new little jersey suit.

One is a tweed-jersey, the second a plaid jersey and the third a polka dotted one.

The first, a lovely rust-shaded tweed-jersey with pinkish silk blouse, has the double box pleats across the front slit and the jacket to form a tunic. The fullness of the skirt is achieved by the obliqueness of this novelty cut.

The little box coat has raglan sleeves and a back yoke that is cut up the center like the shirt front. Its simple standing collar adds a youthful note as does the single envelope pocket.

With this is worn a lighter rust felt mushroom hat that has only a jaunty bow of self material for trimming.

Light browns in live but soft shades fleck the brown plaid jersey suit and the lightest tone is picked out for the soft angora blouse under it. Its stunning material and simple tailored lines set this suit apart for its smartness. It is collarless and features the diagonal closing that is still having such a vogue. A little leather belt and three leather buttons are its only trimming. Its skirt has side box pleats giving it ample width for easy walking. It is topped by a dark brown velvet hat with a jaunty bow.

Polka dots are perhaps the newest novelty for jersey suits. The one shown today is of silver white with a silk dot of black in it. It has a pleated front width in its skirt and its loose jacket has no fastening.

Three exemplifications of the brighter and more formal day that has dawned for jersey: (left) rust tweed-jersey suit, with raglan-sleeved and back-yoked jacket and box-pleated skirt; (center) simply tailored is this light brown plaid jersey suit, the skirt box-pleated at the sides; (right) black polka-dots on silver white and black silk bandings on pockets, collar and lapels distinguish this jersey novelty.

Black silk borders its closing, its pocket and tricky little collar that can be tied shut or left open. White satin with a silver tone makes the simple, long-sleeved blouse neckline and simple, turned-back cuffs are black bound. A black velvet turban carries out the semi-dressy appearance.

IT'S NOT TOO LATE TO DO IT NOW

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

STYLES in New Year's resolutions have changed. We used to swear off bad habits. Now we swear on new ones. It's all very natural, isn't it? The whole psychology of the world has changed from "don't" to "do." Older people are learning it as well as young. A certain middle-aged woman said, "I'm going to stop feeling that it's too late to do things. An impish voice has been whispering in my ear for months. 'What a pity you didn't do this when you were young! It's too late now. Why didn't you go there when you were young? It's too late now—you can't stand it. You allowed opportunity to pass you by in your youth. Now you're old—the best of your life is over. Too bad! Too bad!'"

"The other night," she went on, "I said something like this to my daughter, and she was furious. Indeed, she gave me a good scolding."

AMERICAN GIRL MAKES STAGE BOW IN BERLIN

Paris—(AP)—Berlin and not Paris is to be the scene of the musical debut of Helen Steel, former protegee of Jeritza, prima donna of the New York Metropolitan Grand Opera.

After three years of hard study in Paris and the American girl whom European critics are watching with interest will put her voice to the test in Berlin.

German leader are Miss Steel's specialty. Three years ago Madame Jeritza chose Miss Steel, still a school girl in New York, from 200 promising voices. Patroness and protegee disagreed over the choice of a teacher. Helen Steel changed to Madame Elsa Arden who has prepared her for her debut and appearances as guest artist in many of the secondary opera houses of Europe this winter. Miss Steel is only 23.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY SISTER MARY BREAKFAST—Fingerines, crushed oats cooked with chopped figs, creamed dried beef, crisp toast, milk, coffee. LUNCHEON—Baked vegetable soup, croutons, baked banana and stale cake pudding, milk, tea. DINNER—Meat pie, creamed potatoes, pineapple and rice pudding, milk, coffee.

BAKED VEGETABLE SOUP One pound lean beef, 2 cups diced carrots, 2 cups diced beets, 1 cup thinly sliced onion, 1 large head lettuce, 2 cups canned tomatoes, 2 teaspoons salt, 12 teaspoon pepper, 1 cup diced celery.

Choose meat from the shank. Cut in small pieces or put through coarse knife or food chopper. Remove wilted leaves from lettuce and cut into shreds. Put all the ingredients into a big piece of heavy waxed paper and tie a piece of heavy waxed paper in a slow oven for three hours. Turn into a strainer and drain off juice, pressing with a wooden spoon to force out stock. Pour two cups of boiling water through meat and vegetable and let drain for twenty or thirty minutes. Reheat and serve. (Copyright, 1928, NEA Service, Inc.)

glad to hear that," Scouty cried. "I'll be glad to see you inside. And then we'll work our way through the door. Gee, I can hardly wait!"

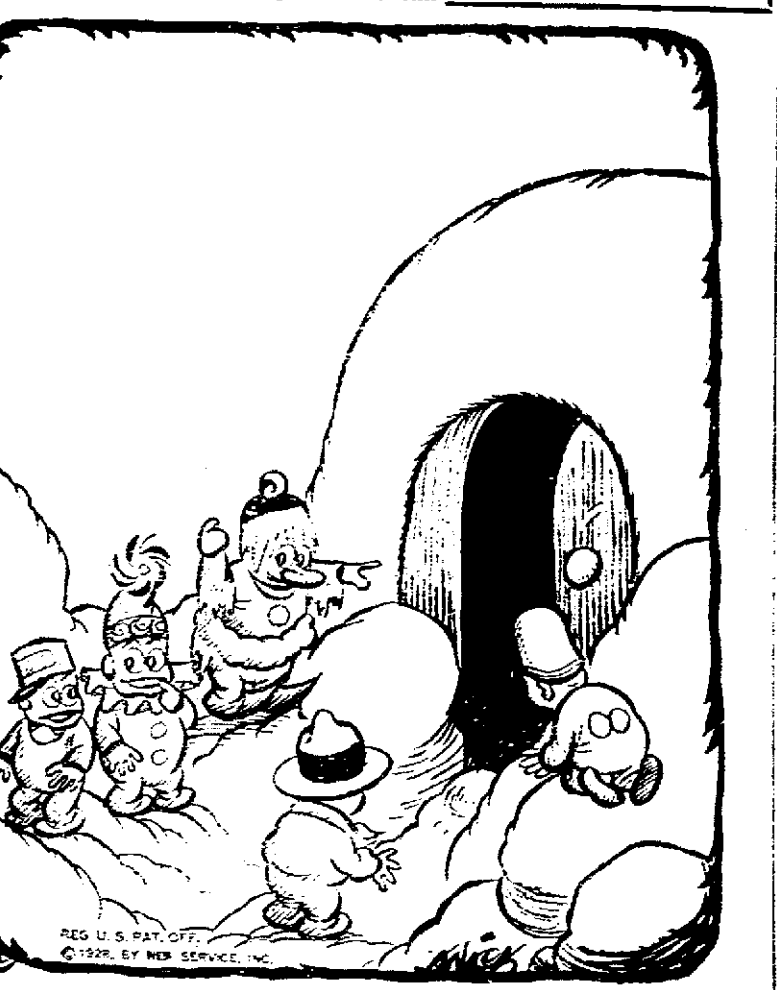

At last the big doorway was free. "Hurrah!" cried Jack. "Now, here's the key. Somebody put it in the lock and give the thing a turn. Then, when the door is open wide, I'll let you Times go inside. If you have never been underground, you have a lot to learn."

Woe Copy took the key in hand, because he seemed to understand just how to work it in the door. Then came a happy sigh. The door swung open. Scouty cried, "We're ready now to go inside." And so the Times gathered round, and led Jack Frost good-bye.

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

THE doorway to the underground which, in the snow, had now been found was closed, of course, and Copy said, "How can we make it swing?" Jack Frost replied, "That's up to you. The thing that you will have to do is keep on shoveling snow away until you've cleared the thing."

"Oh, my," wailed Copy. "This is tough. I think I've shovelled quite enough. In fact my arms are very tired. I really need a rest. When he sat down in the snow. Jack Frost looked up and said, 'I know just what you're doing. You're doing great. I'll be glad to see you inside. And then we'll work our way through the door. Gee, I can hardly wait!'"

SAINT AND SINNER

BY ANNE AUSTIN

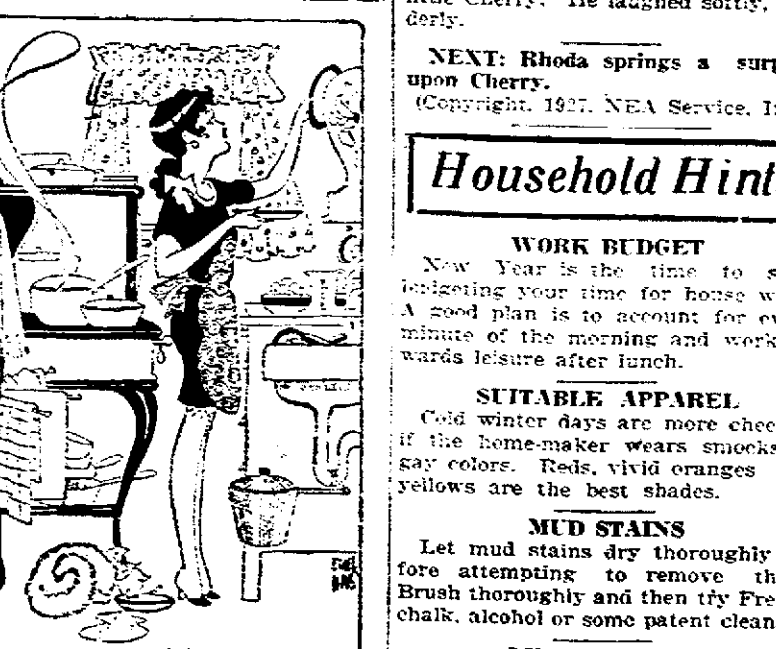

Faith wanted to run to Nils, to drag at his arms—anything to prevent the crashing of one of those big fists against Bruce Patton's twitching, ashen face. But her body was rigid with numbness. Only her eyes seemed to have the power to move and they darted, sick with shame, from one face to the other, which delight triumph and terror fought at ascendancy to Nils' broad back, slightly hunched, as he leaned over his victim. But scarcely had her eyes fastened on Nils when she saw the unbelievable happen. The blond giant's fists slowly uncurled; he raised his hands with maddening deliberation and thrust them into his shoulders, squaring themselves and in another moment his laugh rang out, a strange sound in that tense room, for the radio music had stopped and that queer laugh queer only because it was hearty and not at all sinister—was the only sound.

"Why should I hit you, Patton?" Nils' voice came at last, and Faith felt that she would have given a great deal to see his face just then. "I'm afraid you've misunderstood me. I had no intention of interfering in a lovers' quarrel. I really came to say good-night. Good-night, Mr. Patton! Goodnight, Miss Lane," and he bowed first to one and then to the other of the dumbfounded pair.

Cherry recovered speech first. "Don't dare speak to me!" she shrieked furiously. "You rotten coward! You let him insult me and then scare poor fate backing out of an honest fight! Oh—no—no—no!"

Then he smiled down upon Cherry's fury importantly. "Sorry! But you're important!"

Night Coughs Quickly Relieved

Stopped in 15 Minutes with Thioxine

Most coughing is caused by an irritated, inflamed throat or bronchial tubes which cough syrups and patent medicines do not touch. But a famous physician's prescription recently discovered called Thioxine goes direct to the cause, relieves the inflamed membranes and stops the cough almost instantly. One swallow does the work, and the remarkable thing about it is that it contains no dope, chloroform or other harmful drugs. Pleasant tasting. Safe for children. Once used the whole family will rely on it. 35c, 60c and $1.00. Sold by Voigt's Drug Store, Schlicht Bros. Drug Stores and all good drug stores. adv.

NEARBY
TOWNSMUCH TAX MONEY IS PAID EARLIER THIS YEAR, WRIGHT SAYS

$5,674 Paid First Day —
Bonded Indebtedness Cut
Considerably in Two Years

Special to Post-Crescent
New London — With taxes totaling $55,600 to be collected, the money received thus far by City Treasurer L. M. Wright points to the fact that New London's taxes will be much easier to collect this year than last. The first day's collection alone amounted to $5,674. According to Wright, taxes must be paid before Feb. 1. The city council has the power to extend this period. Income taxes must this year be paid at the county seat, Waupaca. A resume of the work which has been done in the past two years on street paving, sewers and water systems, shows that notwithstanding the increased expenditures, the bonded indebtedness of the city has been cut considerably, amounting now to $57,000 while a fund of $85,000 has been raised through a system of budgeting which has been set aside toward the erection of a new high school.

MISS REGINA HURBON IS BRIDE OF LEONARD SCHIMKE

New London — The wedding of Miss Regina Hurbon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hurbon, and Leonard Schimke, son of Mr. and Mrs. August Schimke, was quietly solemnized at the Catholic parsonage at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon. The Rev. Otto Kolbe conducted the services. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Dortha Hurbon, and August Schimke, brother of the bridegroom, acted as best man. Mr. and Mrs. Schimke left during the afternoon for Oshkosh for a short visit. They will reside in this city for the present. A 12:30 dinner for the immediate friends and relatives given by the bride's parents, preceded the ceremony.

BEATRICE MACKLIN WED

Friends here have received word of the marriage of Miss Beatrice Macklin, daughter of Mrs. Albert Macklin of this city, to George C. Tousey of Milwaukee. The ceremony was performed at a Methodist parsonage in Milwaukee at 4:30 Saturday afternoon, Dec. 23, the Rev. G. M. Calhoun, former pastor of the local Methodist church, conducting the services. Miss Mildred Zillisch of Milwaukee, and Chester Macklin, brother of the bride and a resident of Milwaukee, were the attending witnesses. Dinner at the hotel followed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Tousey will reside at Waupaca. Mrs. Tousey is a graduate of the local high school with the class of 1925. Later she attended the Milwaukee Normal and for the past months has been employed at the Western Builder Co.

NEW BATTERY SHOP TO BE CONSTRUCTED

Benedict Plans 26 by 100-foot Structure on N. Water and S. Pearl-sts

Special to Post-Crescent
New London — Among the building plans which are planned for the coming year, the most important to date is the proposed building of a new tire and battery shop by Wayne Benedict on the corner of N. Water and S. Pearl-sts. A new brick and tile building, which will probably measure 26 by 100 feet, is contemplated. The building will probably be a one-story structure and will run back from the street immediately to the bank of the Embarras river. In order to make this possible the matter of surveying the small triangular plot of land will be necessary, and the findings of City Surveyor Albert Miller will be reported upon at the next meeting of the council. The street is unusually wide at this point where the street runs eastward through the mill yards of the Hutton Lumber company.

Due to the condition of the ground at this point it will be necessary to drive piling and do considerable filling. The present building of the tire shop is to be moved very soon to a new position, according to Mr. Benedict and business continued in its new location until the new building is ready to be occupied.

SAW MACHINE WRECKED;
WORKERS NOT INJURED

Special to Post-Crescent
New London — While engaged in sawing wood on the George Gough farm at Maple Creek, Thursday morning, eight neighbors escaped injury when the machine was completely wrecked in some unaccountable manner. The sawing machine which was of the large Derber type had not been operating satisfactorily and the saw wheel had just been changed. Suddenly it blew up with the force of an explosion, totally wrecking the entire machine. The eight men, who were all standing around the machine, escaped uninjured.

DIRECTOR PRAISES WORK OF WAUPACA FARM SCHOOL

Special to Post-Crescent
Waupaca — Superintendent G. E. Watson of Waupaca received the following letter from Prof. V. E. Kivlin of the College of Agriculture of the University of Wisconsin. Professor Kivlin, who is in charge of the supervision of the Smith-Hughes agricultural teachers in this state, visited the Waupaca department of which A. N. Howatt is in charge and expresses his opinion of the work as follows: "I am much pleased with the agricultural department in your school during my visit, and I believe that you have the work very well in hand, and that we can look to Waupaca for a great development along agricultural lines. The enrollment farm boys in your department is very encouraging and I hope that even more will be attracted to your courses. Your class in farm mechanics was one of the best. I have seen since I have been in this work. You had your students working on projects which were of importance to them and which entailed considerable scope. This is highly commendable. It was a pleasure for me to find your department in such excellent condition, and I know that we can look forward to further development there."

Fox River Hdw. Co. will continue in Radio Business in new location at 410 W. College-Ave.

DAIRYMEN'S BANK
AT CLINTONVILLE
HAS ANNUAL MEET

Institution Is Honored by Appointment to "Roll of Honor"

Special to Post-Crescent
Clintonville — The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Dairymen's state bank of Clintonville was held in the assembly room of the bank Wednesday afternoon and was attended by more than 200 stockholders. It was announced that this bank had been placed among the number privileged to be known as "Roll of Honor Bank" a position which is based on surplus and profits in excess of capital. Of the 27,999 banks in the United States, less than 3,000 were placed on this list.

Reports given showed a big gain in net earnings and in time deposits. A growth also was shown in savings and checking accounts and certificates to deposit. A 12 per cent cash dividend was paid. In the election of officers, the former directors who succeeded themselves were Charles E. Ehm, J. A. Perkins, H. A. Rindt, W. J. Krueger, Richard Schoepke, George Long and H. A. Steenbock.

The Rev. S. G. Ruegg, former pastor of the Congregational church in this city, now a pastor at Madison, addressed the meeting after the business session. Mr. and Mrs. Ruegg returned to this country recently after a year's absence which they spent on a trip around the world. Mr. Ruegg had visited about 4,000 banks in 49 different countries. He said that when he went away he carried a letter of credit from the Dairymen's bank at Clintonville which was honored wherever presented, even in Mesopotamia.

DYSKINESIA

Dyskinesia or habitual constipation wrecks more health every day than any other single thing. It saps strength and vitality, causes serious diseases of the stomach, kidneys and heart, brings on high blood pressure and makes you old years before your time.

The insidious condition of Dyskinesia is the result of our abnormal habits of living which place too great a strain upon the vital organs, especially the liver. The liver becoming weak or sluggish fails to supply the bowels enough bile. The bowels "tie up" and the poisonous waste retained affects the whole system including the vital organs.

The liver occasionally needs a little help, and there's nothing better for this medical men now know, than a little ox gall. Ox gall is a remarkable natural stimulant for the human liver, promoting its normal active functioning, so essential to internal cleanliness and health. Dioxol tablets are genuine ox gall in dainty and tasteless form, each tablet representing 10 drops of pure ox gall. To be sure of getting the genuine ox gall, be sure of getting Dioxol. They cost less than 2c each at good druggists, and a few soon tell.

Free Test Take this ad to the local druggist named below and he will give you a free sample of Dioxol tablets. Try them yourself. See the splendid, quick results. One trial of Dioxol and you will want a full package! Special Agent: Schlicht Bros. Co.

KAUKAUNA PULP AND PAPER MEN PROMOTE NEW FIBRE FACTORY

Appleton Man Given Credit for Speedy Erection of New Plant on West Coast

The speedy erection of the new $2,000,000 plant of the Longview Fibre company plant at Longview, Wash., is due in no small degree to the foresight of the engineering staff under the direction of Chief Engineer Charles R. Sealborne, an Appleton man, according to a story in the December issue of Pacific Pulp and Paper Industry, a magazine dealing with news of the paper trade on the Pacific coast. Mr. Sealborne lived at 515 E. Alton-st, this city.

While the erection of the large plant in record time is credited to Mr. Sealborne, it also marks the entry of eastern pulp and paper capital and talent into the Pacific coast field. The location is ideal because of its proximity to the Long-Bell Paper company's plant, located but a short distance away, and the fact that a sufficient amount of lumber is available for years to come.

KAUKAUNA MEN OFFICERS

The inspiration for the plant was developed at the Thilmany Pulp and Paper company, at Kaukauna, and many of the officers of that concern are identified with the new company. Some of them are M. A. Wertheimer, chairman of the board of directors of the Longview company; R. S. Wertheimer, his son, is resident manager of the mill; D. C. Everest, general manager of the Marathon Paper Mills at Rothschild, Wis., is vice-president and M. T. Ray, chief accountant at Thilmany for many years, is secretary.

On Oct. 3 of this year, the new plant blew its first digester, just nine months after construction work was started. The engineers in charge of the work had started operations by building a paved road to the plant before any of the buildings were built and speeding up the delivery of the machinery was thereby made. Next followed the erection of the administrative offices and lastly the factory itself.

The Long-Bell company cuts 1,800,000 feet of lumber per day and, in addition to the waste wood for pulp purposes, sufficient hog fuel is obtained from the lumber mill for its steam requirements. Some of the power also is obtained from the lumber company's big generating plant, which also burns hog fuel.

CLOSE TO PORT

The new plant is erected on a level 180 acre tract composed of sand and gravel formation, located at the confluence of the Columbia and Cowlitz rivers, halfway between Portland, Oregon, and the sea. There are natural shipping facilities and much of the new firm's products will be shipped by water to the eastern markets, via the Panama canal.

The Longview plant is equipped with the latest and most modern types of machinery, including two 83 inch disc chippers with pressure feed attachments which permits even feeding of the miscellaneous sized wood. A Smith and Valley horizontal steam splitter is installed in line with a 110 inch chipper. Chips from the large chipper are conveyed by an endless belt to the screen room which houses a battery of five vibrating machines, each capable of screening five cords per hour.

The digester house contains four hammer welded Blaw-Knox digesters, equipped with Mortecula circulating pumps. Chemicals control, as well as the controls for cooking, are located on the top floor of the digester house. Five steel liquor storage tanks are located on both sides of the digesters, making in all a very compact arrangement.

When pulp is blown from the digesters to the diffusers, the steam and non-condensed gases are led to a save-all of the dimensions approximately that of the diffusers. Here most of the fibre is thrown out. Gases pass from the save-all to a cyclone for final separation of the fibre and then through a tubular heat interchanger which provides hot water for washing a 100 diffusers. From the cyclones the gases are led through a cyclone type scrubber which acts as a combustion for condenser and gas washer. At this point all non-condensable gases are collected and passed to the furnaces to be burned.

The pulp is washed from the diffuser tanks into the stock chests and passed on to the screen room, which lies beyond the boiler and recovery room. Another departure from ordinary engineering practice is found here in a combined screen, heater and machine room.

The storage pit of the new factory is two full stories in depth and is served by a ten ton travelling crane reaching the full width of the building. In addition to this crane, there are two five ton cranes in the machine room, each covering half the width of the room and serving the area over the machines and the screen and heater departments.

PRODUCTION UNDERWAY

The direct-fired boiler plant consists of three 387 H. P. Sterling type boilers equipped with Beecher step grates and Dutch oven furnaces of the drop nose type designed to use hog fuel primarily, but are also fired with back shot oil firing for auxiliary use. A 367 foot concrete stack serves both the direct fired and the waste boilers and has the name of the company painted on its length in huge letters.

The first water shipment from the new factory was made Dec. 5 when two tons of Longview Fibre Liner, the trade name for the sulphate kraft liner manufactured by the Longview concern, was shipped on the American-Hawaiian freighter Georgian to an eastern port.

CITY SEALER REPORTS MERCHANTS HERE HONEST

A report of Joseph A. Hodgins, city sealer of weights and measures, presented to the city council Wednesday night, shows he made 51 visits for the purpose of trying out scales. He made 205 tests and but 9 pieces of apparatus were found to be incorrect. One gas tank and 80 milk bottles were tested and all found to be correct.

BLUE BASKETEERS SET FOR STRONG MARQUETTE QUINT

Vikings Determined To Give Classy Milwaukee Cagers Plenty Of Work

O'Donnell and Andrews Form Great Offensive Pair for Visiting Five

THE LINEUPS
MARQUETTE — Lawrence, Rasmussen, Slavic, Voeks, Padden, Gebert.
MILWAUKEE — Corbett, McLaughlin, Capt. Razner, Moser, Brock, Martineau, Andrew, Zummach, Anderson, O'Donnell, Padden, Gonyor, Shimek, Rydell, Bagger, Gebert, O'Hanlon, Schumacher.

Conditioned by two practices a day during the last week of the Christmas vacation while their opponents were enjoying their rest period, Coach A. C. Deany's sophomore varsity of Lawrence college will encounter its stiffest non-conference competition of the season Friday evening at Armory Marquette university's cagers, old rivals of the Blue, invade Appleton fresh from a 16-15 victory over the classy six foot Oregon Aggies and with games already played including those with Wisconsin, Iowa and Northwestern of the Big Ten. The games have placed the Milwaukeeans in a such a condition that they will set the fastest kind of pace for the Blue.

Marquette has a revamped team, with Jimmy O'Donnell, former guard, now starring at forward. He was outstanding in the Murraysmen's 16, to 15 victory over Oregon Aggies in Milwaukee, Monday night. Scoring 12 of 16 points and the winning marker in the last minute of play. O'Donnell played on the great Marquette high team of 1925 and 1926. Other sophomores include Ray Andrew, Shawano, lanky center, who can be depended upon to get the jump most of the time, and either Jack Zummach or Benny Moser, one of whom will alternate with Corbett at forward. Moser is from Fond du Lac, Zummach from Milwaukee. Bennie is a former all valley conference man. The Marquette guards are Johnny Padden and Swede Gebert, stars of the Golden Avalanche football team. Padden was an end in football, while Gebert, the Morrill blond, received all-American and all-western mention as a halfback.

MAY TRY CHANGES
 Two changes may be tried in the Blue lineup but it is probable that the starters of the last two Blue tilt against will be in when the opening whistle starts. Rasmussen and Rasmussen probably will open at forward, with Slavic at center and Pierce and Voeks at guards. Schlengerhau also is ready to step in at Rasmussen's job, which seems to make a smoother working combination, though cuts down the shooting power somewhat. St. Mitchell may replace Voeks at guard to give the Vikings taller combinations on defense to bother the Marquette offense. Pierce and St. Mitchell are both six-footers, while Voeks is short and stout, though a classy defensive man with his great fight. Hoffman will be ready to replace Rasmussen at forward.

OKLAHOMA FIVE WINS FROM IGWA STATE MEN

Sharkey, Heeney Start New Elimination Series

BY HENRY L. FARRELL

One of the two leading big boys of Tex Rickard's herd of heavyweights will be put on the block in the Garden January 13 when Jack Sharkey, one of the eliminated of last year's eliminations, and Tom Heeney, a member of the challenger pack, meet in the first of two fights to find another opponent for Gene Tunney.

Although there have been whispers that the elimination tournament will be for entertainment and profit only and that Jack Dempsey will be Rickard's choice for a third bout with the champ, the fight is being made today within a few steps of the ring for 1928's big shot. Sharkey, because of his experience and the record he has made against bigger men, probably will be a favorite. Heeney, although Heeney, a big, strong, courageous fellow, will have some backing. Sharkey has a reputation for being weak in the stomach, but Heeney is not a natural body bouncer and he is much slower than some of the big men in the heavy every other heavy-weight was dodging the big negro. He also fought and whipped George Godfrey, who is being bally-hoed now as the greatest heavyweight in the class. And he did everything that was asked of him to prove that he had a right to be considered as a challenger. If Sharkey is in the same condi-

CANADIENS TAKE LONG LEAD IN HOCKEY RACE

New York — (AP) — The National Hockey League chase had the aspect of a runaway race for the Montreal Canadiens Friday as that dominion sextet notched another victory to boost its point total to 20, more than the closest competitors, the Bruins and Cougars.

On the Detroit rink Friday the Canadiens hung up their thirteenth victory, taking the Cougars into camp, 2-1. At Montreal, the Maroons topped the Toronto Maple Leafs by 2 to 1 and moved into a tie for second place with Ottawa in the international group standing.

The New York Americans and Pittsburgh Pirates engaged in a scoreless draw at New York.

HUGGINS PLEASED WITH MOUND HOPES

Yankee Leader Likes Mound Staff Despite Many Losses

New York — Even if the New York Yankees fail to put through a deal during the winter for a pitcher good enough to take a regular turn, the pitching staff will not be in desperate straits, according to Miller Huggins, manager of the champions. Although Bob Shawkey, Dutch Reuther and Joe Giard have gone and Urban Shocker may get his passage paper, Huggins believes he has somewhat of a staff in Hoyt. Pennock, Pilegus and Moore. There are also Henry Johnson, who is recently developed, is wanted in several places, Myles Thomas and old Stan Coveleskie, who are to be given a trial in St. Petersburg. There also may be a find among a lot of rookies. Huggins never will lose his faith in star pitching, but the impression is general around here that it does not take a wonderful pitcher to get by with that gang of clouters behind him.

LOUGHRAN FAVORED IN LOMSKI BATTLE

Tommy Defends New Title Against Classy Challenger

New York — (AP) — Called upon in the defense of his newly-acquired world's light-heavyweight championship in Madison Square Garden Friday night, Tommy Loughran of Philadelphia, will be forced to exercise his highly rated ring generalship to the utmost against the onrushing and bettering style of Leo Lomski, his Pacific coast challenger.

The bouts, over the 15-round trial, will be the first title affair of the new year. It will start at 10 o'clock, Eastern time. Loughran rates an 8 to 5 favorite. He is expected to be down to 174½ pounds, half a pound under the division limit while Lomski probably will scale 171.

Loughran is 27 years old. Lomski, who is 24, has been a scrapper from school days. In his home town in Aberdeen, Wash., Lomski frequently was called upon to battle for a young brother and thus developed the art of fisticuffs. Lomski makes up for a lack of scientific skill in a stout heart and double action fists. He is particularly adept at inflicting. He can absorb plenty of punishment. Stiff right hooks to the head are two of his favorite blows. If Lomski will be the first Poland to wear a crown since the days of Stanley Ketchel.

on he was before he fought Dempsey, there would be no hesitancy in giving him to win. But Sharkey was put badly in the Dempsey fight. Dempsey usually leaves a permanent disability in the victims he can reach. He was able to reach Tunney only once.

Sharkey, however, has had a long run and there are reasons to believe that the injured hand which caused him to ask for a postponement of the fight last year was injured by the box office.

In considering Sharkey's chances it can be remembered that he, like Dempsey, always has done his most effective fighting against bigger and heavier men. Sharkey is usually fast and effective against a fast big man as he scored in his fight against Jim Maloney.

Heeney has done well in his few appearances in this country. He was made the victim of a raw decision against Paulino, but his form against a clown fighter like the Spaniard cannot be taken as heavy evidence. Heeney is a rugged, big fellow with plenty of courage and fighting equipment above the ordinary run of the challengers.

Although the Dempsey fight may have hurt Sharkey physically, it should have been a moral lesson to him. When he was training for Dempsey he scorned even the suggestion of William Muldoon, and, in the ring, he ridiculed the suggestions of his managers and seconds.

Confidence is a valuable asset, but the inordinate vanity of Sharkey before and in the fight with Dempsey cost him perhaps a half million dollars and a chance at the title. Perhaps he will listen to good advice this time.

Capt. Floyd Razner of Stevens Point, is a forward on the Marquette university basketball team which faces Lawrence college here Friday night. This is his third year.

All Big Ten Quints Open Season Saturday Evening

Chicago — (AP) — The race for the Western Conference basketball title, puffed up by a brilliant series of pre-season interconference contests, opens Saturday night with all Big Ten teams in action at once for the first time in many years.

The list of likely candidates for the honors was shuffled considerably by the showing against strong non-conference opponents who invaded the Big Ten in force this winter. Iowa made much the best showing against Pittsburg, holding the Panthers to a tie in the regular time, but losing in the overtime period. Four other conference teams fell beneath the Pittsburg Northwestern also came in to some recognition by defeating Notre Dame in a furious scramble. The first Big Ten team which has been able to accomplish this since 1925.

Michigan, the 1927 titleholder, has much the same combination again this year with the addition of Raber as a dead shot at the hoop. Captain Harrigan and Bennie Oosterbaan, the football star, form the rest of the Wolverines' scoring machine. Indiana and Purdue, tied for second place last year and Purdue has almost the same squad in the race again. Indiana has Correll and Beckner back again for forwards.

Ohio State was one of the easiest of the five conference victims of Pittsburg. Wisconsin has not been beaten in any of its pre-season games, but has yet to go against a team that will test it to the limit. Minnesota's prospects are brightening under their new coach. Chicago has won three and lost two of its practice starts. Illinois went clear to the Pacific coast for the bulk of its pre-season training, losing two games out of three to the University of Washington at Seattle.

The opening conference games are: Chicago at Indiana; Michigan at Northwestern; Purdue at Illinois; Iowa at Minnesota; Wisconsin at Ohio.

JOE MOORE STARTS TO TRAIN FOR OLYMPICS

Joe Moore, considered the fastest skater in the United States, is one of the big hopes of America for winning points in the Olympic winter games.

Moore is almost unbeatable on American tracks, having beaten Clas Thunberg, the 1924 Olympic champion, in this country but he has not had the same success in foreign countries where the two lap tracks are used. Moore, with a number of other prominent skaters, is now training at Lake Placid.

OSHKOSH QUINTET EASY FAVORITE TO WHIP APPLETON MEN

Team of Last Year's Veterans Is Strong Contender for Valley Crown

FRIDAY GAMES

APPLETON AT OSHKOSH.
E. Green Bay at Marinette.
Fond du Lac at W. Green Bay.
Manitowish at Sheboygan (non-con).

A shifted lineup will greet Appleton high school basketball fans who travel to Oshkosh Friday evening to see the local high quintet open its Valley conference season against the veterans Oshkosh team. Picked as the strongest contender for conference honors this year, for Coach J. Shields has been working his men in various combinations in order to attempt to defeat the home team Friday, a thing which will be almost a miracle if Appleton's green team can beat the seasoned veterans Oshkosh will place on the floor. But should the spirit of the Orange cagers survive a defeat tonight they should have a good conference season, as Oshkosh is the hardest team on the schedule. It was a tough task to draw the veteran quint first. Two new men have been working in the guard positions with Kunitz and Schaefer this week and in all probability they will see plenty of action Friday, possibly replacing the former pair in the way in which Shields feels the need of weight. They are Popp and Johnston of football fame. Johnston, a letterman last year, probably will be given little chance as he was able to report for practice for the first time this week and is far from in condition for a game such as Oshkosh will furnish. He was out with a broken collarbone from football which is not entirely mended yet.

BERG TO FORWARD

With the new guard arrangement the forwards will be bolstered by the addition of Berg, a soph. who is a fair shot, a good dribbler and has been playing a great floor game to date. He is fast and a fighter. Bowley and Capt. Strutz will be at the forward berth, most of the way, with Berg and Gehringer in reserve. Rafoth will start at center with Kruse also ready to take the job. Altogether the team is in poor condition for even an average team while the Oshkosh men have showed that they are in the prime, so that in a fast game the poor condition of the locals will tell. "Not ready" might be Appleton's slogan, but the team will be a ready for any kind of a game by a week from tonight.

Curley Pugh, a three-year letterwinner, is Oshkosh's big threat and how he can shoot when on. Then there is Tedych, picked as second team forward on all-Valley conference teams last winter. Liebenow, a star guard, Crowell, a speedy forward, and Janda, a guard, all regulars last year. Tedych and Crowell also are good shots. Altogether it's a neat combination the green Appleton men will meet tonight.

East Green Bay is a slight favorite to beat Marinette at Marinette due to a veteran lineup. West and Herber should beat Fondy's green crew and the Sheboygan-Manitowish game will be a tossup, with the Ships being given whatever edge there might be.

BOB ROEMER ENTERS ICE SKATING EVENT

1927 Champ in Champ's Races; Neenah Girl Is 1st Senior

The first past champion of Appleton Post-Crescent ice skating tourneys entered the three champion races Friday, when the entry of Robert Roemer, 1927 champion, was received. Roemer was crowned champ after a race-off which was held when three men tied for the 1927 honors with five points each. He beat Henry Tammer by a few feet in a driving finish in the special race. For the first time this year the champions will have chances at three medals and a cup, instead of merely a cup as three races are to be run in place of one.

Other entries Friday included James Vanderlinden, 11, Appleton, who entered both junior events. Carl Rieschl, 13, Menasha, who entered the 440 for juniors and Miss Marion Braemer, 16, Neenah, the first entry in the girls' senior events. Last year Miss Braemer was one of the strongest competitors among the Junior girls. She finished a close second in the 229-yard dash to Annette Kuehler of Appleton and then took the other junior race, the 440-yard dash in good style. She will be one of the strongest competitors for the senior championship this year.

COLORFUL FIELD IN LOS ANGELES EVENT

Los Angeles.—The major golfing classic of the west—the Los Angeles $10,000 open tournament—Friday drew a colorful field of 133 professionals and amateurs to the Wilshire Country Club course here for the first 18-hole lap of the 72-hole drive. Upon the shoulders of "Wee" Bobby Cruickshank rested the responsibility of defending the title he won last year. The favored field found youth ranked with veterans as those most likely to take the crown away from the little Scotchman. Tommy Armour, National Open champion, was considered an outstanding threat. Others were MacDonald Smith, master golfer of the "old school," youthful "Light-horse" Harry Cooper, winner of the 1925 Los Angeles open; Al Watrous, Grand Rapids, Mich., Pro; George Von Elm, former amateur title holder, and Flasky Young, Billy Burke of New York.

A score of others, nationally known, ranked high as tournament favorites. Ed Dudley of Hollywood, Leo Diegel, and Bill McElhenn of New York; Willie Hunter, California Open champion, and Abe and Al Espinosa are threats not to be forgotten.

Learned Game at Yale
Mike Donahue, who recently resigned as football coach at Louisiana State, learned his football as a player at Yale. He graduated there in 1901.

CRIPPLED RIPON CAGERS ON TRIP

Redmen Play Midwest Games With Hamline and Carleton

BY BILLY EVANS

The major league season of today is very often the minor league performer of tomorrow.

That isn't literally true, but in a sense it is. It explains the uncertainty a baseball manager and club owner is up against in making his selection of players.

Recently the wires carried the story that Chick Galloway, in whom all major league clubs have had a keen eye, had come back to the majors via the Detroit Tigers.

The case of Chick Galloway, I regard as a concrete example of the great uncertainty that is with the game of baseball. Galloway came from a major league club, where he was the highest paid of the day, and is demanded.

Just 10 years ago, Chick Galloway made his debut in professional baseball as a member of the Atlanta team of the Southern Association. His previous baseball connection had been confined to the collegiate brand as player and coach at Presbyterian College of South Carolina.

Galloway joined Atlanta in the fall of 1919. Galloway was immediately given a chance to prove his worth with Connie Mack's outfit team. He played in 17 games and found his league pitching more than tough, as he batted only .142.

Connie Mack, realizing that Galloway had come to the majors with only one year's experience in professional circles, hardly expected him to step right into the lineup. The following season he took part in 28 games, showing improvement in all features of play.

However, it was not until 1921, that he was definitely established as the regular shortstop on the Athletics. That season he batted .265, a big improvement.

Largest of Kind
The new University of Iowa athletic field house is believed to be the largest of its kind anywhere in the world.

Did This Feat Twice
Lou Gehrig hit two home runs during the 1927 season with the bases fully occupied.

MADISON PREPARES FOR STATE KEGLERS

Expect 7,000 Pinmen at Meet Jan. 25 to March 1

Madison—(P)—The Capitol city will be the bowling center of the state for six weeks from Jan. 25 to March 1, as more than seven thousand bowlers take part in the fourteenth annual tournament of the Wisconsin Bowling association.

In the tournament last year, held in Racine, there were 1,270 five man teams entered, according to O. R. Rennebohm, Madison, president of the state association, and the local clubs expect a large number of entrants this year.

Madison and Dane county clubs have set 700 teams as their goal for the tourney, and already 400 tentative entries have been made. A. J. Cobban, secretary of the Madison organization says.

The last date on which entries may be made with William F. Penske, Milwaukee, secretary of the state organization, is Jan. 15. The schedule of the tournament calls for bowling almost continuously during the six weeks period. Madison and Dane county teams will compete during the week, while on Friday, Saturday and Sunday teams from other cities will work out in Madison.

The rules of the state association require that every entrant must be a member of a qualified bowling team. Arrangements for this tournament are being carried on by the officers and executive committee, composed of the following: C. C. Ryan, Kenosha, vice president; E. H. Bach, Milwaukee; A. A. Braun, Kohler; G. E. Brown, Fond du Lac; J. H. Coffey, Green Bay; C. L. Davis, Beloit; Arthur Hanson, Racine; A. A. Hendrix, Neenah; W. G. Kell, Sheboygan; F. E. Lins, Milwaukee; George Mueller, LaCrosse; A. Schmetz, Manitowish; R. J. Stabino, Oshkosh; and J. Kogodzin, Janesville.

THE STORY THUS FAR

The story begins in 1880, in the wicked little town of CALDWELL, Kas., close to the Indian territory border.

TONY HARRISON, 13-year-old son of JEFF HARRISON, a handsome gambler, is orphaned when TOM BENTON, a cattle thief, shoots his father in a poker game.

The boy is befriended by GORDON W. LILLIE, then a restaurant waiter and later to be known as PAWNEE BILL.

JOE CRAIG, foreman of the Bar K ranch, who takes Tony to the Bar K to live, and by COLONEL TITUS MOORE, owner of the ranch.

Lillie thinks somewhat of joining DAVID PAYNE, who is agitating for the opening of the Indian territory lands, but he gets an offer of a school teaching post in Pawnee and accepts it.

CHAPTER VI

Joe Craig rode up the gentle rise and when he reached the top he reined in his horse. "Just pull up a minute, Tony," he called to his companion. "Ain't that a pretty sight?"

From their little eminence they could see the rough ranch house of the Bar K. South of them flowed the Salt Fork of the Arkansas, several miles away; and in between was a vast herd, munching peacefully at the succulent grass.

The sky was flawless, and the earth a carpet of green. They had just returned from Colonel Chivington's ranch near Turkey Creek with a small herd of yearlings. Other matters had intervened to delay their trip several days, but the job was well done and the yearlings turned out to graze on some choice bottom land of Joe Craig's selection.

Craig sighed. "You know, Tony, I sometimes think I should of been born a poet."

Tony Harrison smiled.

"Yes," Craig continued. "I should of been. You know, it ain't right to look on a landscape like this without being able to express your feelings in the proper kind of words. I guess I would of been a poet, too, only I just couldn't seem to make the words rhyme. I can rope a steer with the next man and tame the meanest cayuse that ever reared back on two legs and pawed at the sun. But it just ain't in me to assemble words together so's they sound pleasing to the ear."

"Take the Salt Fork, for instance; the word 'fork' I could ever rhyme with them two was salt pork—and this is beef country, Tony."

Tony threw back his head and laughed—and the laughter fell like music on Joe Craig's ears. The shadow of tragedy that had fallen on Tony Harrison had not yet gone, but it was lifting, and under the magic of Joe Craig's warm companionship the blow had softened and the boy's morose mood was disappearing.

His appearance, too, had undergone a change. Already he was healthy tanned, and a week of ranch life, with man-sized meals for a razor-hungry appetite, had been like a tonic.

Joe Craig regarded his young friend in a pleased silence. He lifted his head and was about to speak when something in the direction of the ranch house caught his eye. It was wheeled her horse quickly and was gone, and Craig laughingly raced after her.

Rita Moore had inherited her red hair from her father. From him also she had inherited a masterful disposition. She was the only person that Titus Moore did not rule with an iron hand. She was fiery, imperious; even the colonel himself was like so much putty in her hands.

She and her mother spent most of the year in Kansas City, where Rita attended a boarding school. Katherine Moore had readily persuaded her husband that rough ranch life, while it was desirable from many points of view, held forth very little in the way of educational opportunities for young girls. As for Kansas City, that was a compromise. Katherine Moore had wanted her daughter educated in the east; the colonel thought Wichita was far enough removed from the base of operations, so Kansas City had been agreed on, with the colonel assenting to an eastern school when the time should come.

The colonel's wife was a slender, gentle creature with considerable pride in her blood. She was a Virginian and, what was more, a Presbyterian. Above everything else, she wanted her daughter to be reared as a lady and eventually to make the right kind of marriage. She disapproved of Rita's tomboyishness, although the colonel laughed at her and seemed to be quite satisfied, and she was forever fretting about the girl's recklessness.

"I'm afraid she'll break her neck, Tony, the way she rides that horse of hers,"

And Titus Moore chuckled. "Let the girl alone, Katherine. She can take care of herself. You can't raise Rita like a hothouse plant. She's too much like her daddy." This latter with quite evident pride.

Mrs. Moore sighed. "Marguerita," she was the only one who called her Marguerita "will do something foolish some day when she's a little older, and you'll see that I was right."

CONDUCT HEARINGS FOR COMPENSATION

Two Cases Heard, One Settled and Three Held Open During Thursday Meeting

Two cases under the workmen's compensation act were heard by H. V. Ohm, examiner for the Wisconsin Industrial commission, at a hearing at the courthouse here Thursday morning. One case was settled before testimony was taken and three cases were held open. Two cases that were to have been heard by the commission Thursday afternoon were postponed.

Testimony was taken in the case of Oren Yornawood who seeks extra compensation from the Kimberly-Clark Paper company because, he contends, it violated a safety law made by the Industrial commission. Yornawood received his primary compensation from an injury which he sustained to his foot when a weight fell on it, but he seeks the 15 per cent extra compensation which the company must pay if it has violated a safety law.

Testimony also was taken in the case of Esther C. Klatt, who seeks damages from the Wisconsin Telephone company as the result of a fall down the steps from the New London exchange.

A settlement was made in the case of Theodore Skalmaski who sought compensation for time lost through an injury while he was employed by Meyer Burstein. Cases postponed were: Benny Wenzel versus Neske Food company; Edwin T. Weeks versus Hoosier Engineering company; and Guy H. Goodlaxon versus Petrie Storage and Transfer Line company.

A brilliant modern interpretation of Drdla's "Souvenir" by Roger Wolfe Kahn and His Orchestra, who turn this well-loved classic theme into smooth dance rhythm. A rich, expressive voice adds the throb of sentiment to the refrain. It's a record well worth having for the impromptu dance at home. Come in and bear all of these new Victor releases—today!

JACK LOCKWILL'S FIGHTING BLOOD

"Here's the thirty you loaned me, Hargon," said the Leaping Kangaroo, offering Price the money he had obtained by pawning his watch. "But I don't want it," protested Hargon. Sinnott forced it upon him. "I played one dirty trick on Lockwill because you suggested it and I was in debt to you," he said. "But now we're square, and you needn't suggest another."

"Didn't I say you couldn't count on him, Price?" came from Maddox. "He's a cheap bum!" "I'd be chaper." snapped Sinnott, "if I had anything more to do with you!"

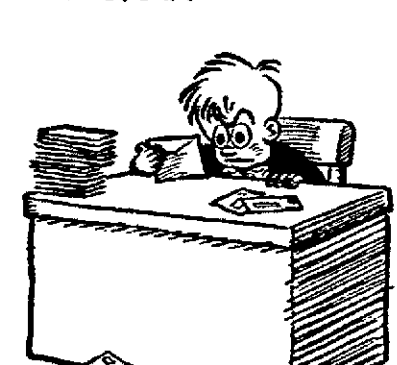

Quick as a gasp, Cub grabbed the Leaping Kangaroo by the neck, thrust him against the door, and poked him in the eye. "Take it back!" he cried. "It'll bust ya again!"

"My gracious!" exclaimed a fourth person as he came strolling down the narrow alley. "If it isn't some freshmen getting affectionate among themselves!" The unwelcome witness was Willie Darling, who had been keeping a suspicious eye on Sinnott. "Stop it, Cub!" warned Hargon. "Here's Lockwill's snooper." "Well, I'd like to paste him, too!" snarled Maddox. (To Be Continued)

SENATE TO DEBATE ESCH APPOINTMENT

Some Sections of U. S. Given Advantage by Commission, Charges Declare

Washington, Jan. 6.—Growing dissatisfaction in congress against a policy of the Interstate Commerce commission, which, it is contended, gives some sections of the country an advantage, will find expression in senate debate on the reappointment of John J. Esch of Wisconsin, as a member of the commission. Esch, is continuing to serve under a recess appointment.

Senators from the southern bituminous coal producing states are combining with those from the northwestern states and some of the Republican irregulars in what promises now to be a rather formidable fight against the reappointment of the former chairman of the commission.

The nomination was to have been considered Thursday by the senate interstate commerce committee, but it went over at the request of Senator Goff, Republican, West Virginia.

One of the chief points of complaint against the former member of congress and co-author of the much discussed transportation act is that he changed his position in the long converted Great Lakes coal cargo, permitting the Ohio and Pennsylvania fields to reduce rates to lake ports after the commission once had refused to allow such a reduction.

SMALLER VARIETY IN VEGETABLE MARKET

Table Delicacies Offered Here Now Are Coming from Southern States

Appleton housewives will have to be content with a small selection of vegetables for weekend dinners. General lack of marketable products is given as the cause for the scarcity. Practically all of the fresh vegetables now are coming from southern states.

Vegetables found on the market this week are quoted as follows: Green peppers 10 cents each, cauliflower 25 cents each, sweet potatoes two pounds for 25 cents, parsnips 10 cents a pound, head lettuce 10 to 15 cents each, Spanish onions 10 cents each and three pounds for 25 cents, cabbage 3 cents a pound, rutabagas 5 cents a pound, turnips 10 cents a pound, carrots 10 cents a bunch, squash 7 cents a pound, celery 15 to 25 cents a stalk, spinach 15 to 25 cents a pound, and tomatoes 25 cents a basket.

The fruit market quoted earlier at 55 to 85 cents a dozen, bananas 10 to 12 cents a pound, pomegranates 10 cents each, lemons 5 cents each, tangerines 30 cents a pound and apples 50 cents at $1.25 a peck.

AUTO THIEF TO SERVE SIX MONTHS SENTENCE

Edward Heinzl, Appleton, was sentenced to six months in the county jail by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court Thursday when he pleaded guilty to a charge of larceny. Heinzl was accused of stealing a Chevrolet truck from the Fox River boiler works in September. The Appleton man had been sentenced to serve 60 days in the county jail for drunkenness and Sheriff Otto Zuehlke secured a job for him at the boiler company. Heinzl disappeared on Sunday, Sept. 25, and the truck also was missing. Later Heinzl was arrested and the truck was recovered at Green Bay.

HARDWARE FIRM WOULD INCORPORATE BUSINESS

Articles of incorporation for the Darbrener Hardware company of Hortonville were filed with A. G. Koch, county register of deeds, last week. The Hortonville firm deals in hardware, furnaces and plumbing fixtures. The firm is incorporated for $50,000 and there will be 500 shares each with a par value of $100. Those who signed the articles of incorporation are Lawrence, N. H. and L. C. Darbrener.

BAKER SENT TO JAIL FOR ASSAULTING WIFE

George Streeter, proprietor of Streeter's bakery at Kaukauna, was sentenced to ten days in the county jail by Judge Fred V. Heinemann in municipal court Friday morning when he was found guilty of assault and battery on his wife, Catherine. The Kaukauna man was arrested Friday morning by Chief of Police R. H. McCarty at Kaukauna following a family quarrel. Mrs. Streeter charged her husband struck her.

MORRIS INSTALLS NEW OFFICERS FOR VETERANS

Four members of Charles O. Baer camp, United Spanish War Veterans, went to Green Bay Thursday night when they assisted in the installation of officers at a camp in that city. Fred Morris acted as installing officer and C. B. Peterman was master of ceremonies. Other members to make the trip were Fred Giese and Lewis Jeske. They returned home Thursday night.

BIRTHS

A son was born Thursday at St. Elizabeth hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Dohr, 321 S. Walnut.

A daughter was born Friday at St. Elizabeth hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Otto Schubring, 409 Park-st Kaukauna.

Members of the Appleton Yacht club met Thursday evening at the club house on River-st. Routine business was discussed, and plans for the new year were made. Cards were played and prizes won by Leo Schroeder and Carl Wenzel. A social hour followed.

RECORD CROWD IS EXPECTED AT U. C. T. MEETING

About 250 persons are expected to attend the booster meeting of the United Commercial Travelers and Ladies auxiliary Saturday afternoon and evening at Odd Fellow hall. A large class of candidates for membership will be initiated into the organization at the afternoon meetings which begin at 2:30. All members of the United Commercial Travelers, and their friends have been invited to attend the supper which will be served at 6 o'clock, after which there will be cards and dancing.

MOTHERS CLUB SEATS OFFICERS

Christian Mothers society of St. Joseph church installed officers at a meeting Thursday night at St. Joseph hall. Officers installed were Mrs. Frank Blich, president; Mrs. Clement Nowarapzyk, vice president; Mrs. R. Lehner, secretary; Mrs. C. A. Kaufman, treasurer; consultants: Mrs. Mary Wagner, Elmer Hoffman, Mrs. May Alvin Boehme and Mrs. John Erti.

The social hour which followed the meeting was in charge of the new officers. Prizes at schafkopf were won by Mrs. J. La Fond and Mrs. Peter Bosch. Mrs. Walter Steenis won the prize at bridge and the prize at cinch went to Mrs. C. Feurstein. Mrs. E. Riedl won the prize at plumsack. Twenty-four tables were in play.

QUARTET AND PROGRAM AT CHURCH FETE

About 75 persons were present at the church night supper and program Thursday evening at the First Congregational church. The quartet of the church under the direction of Carl J. Waterman furnished the musical program for the evening. Jewish, Roman, Russian and Protestant music was presented. Everett Roudhush, student at Lawrence Conservatory of Music, accompanied the quartet.

The second church night supper will be held on Thursday, Jan. 12, at the church. This meeting will comprise the annual business meeting of the congregation. Supper will be served at 6:30 followed by reports of the various church organizations. The budget for the year will be presented, discussed and voted on. The annual election of officers will take place Thursday, Jan. 19, and a program and entertainment will be arranged to follow the business meeting.

CARD PARTIES

An open card party will be given by the Parents Teachers association of the Sandy Spence school, Ballard-rd. Tuesday evening Jan. 10. Schafkopf and dice will be played after which a social hour will be held. Mrs. James Gillespie, Miss Elizabeth Gueff, and Mrs. Ott Smith are in charge of the party. Miss Cecile Morrow is the teacher.

Past matrons of Fidelity chapter, Order of Eastern Star, were entertained by Miss Ada Myers, at her home on Lawrence-st Thursday evening. A short business meeting was held followed by cards. Prizes were won by Mrs. Elsie Marshall and Mrs. H. Wildhagen. Mrs. Elsie of Green Bay was awarded the guest prize.

Mrs. Emil Court, 224 E. Commercial-st, entertained the Thursday afternoon bridge club. Two tables were in play. Prizes were won by Mrs. August Brandt, Mrs. Frank Brandt and Mrs. John Burke. Mrs. Clifford Brandt, 301 S. Outagamie-st will be hostess to the club at its next meeting.

ADJOURN HEARING OF WOMEN NABBED IN RAID

Neenah—The preliminary hearing in the cases of Bessie Elchine, Jane Murray, Babe Crupl, William Meyer and Art Goesser, who were arrested last week by Sheriff Hummer in connection with the raid on the hotel at Neenah, was adjourned to 1 o'clock on the afternoon of Jan. 16, in Justice Jensen's court. The hearing was scheduled for 1 o'clock Friday afternoon but owing to the inability of District Attorney Frank B. Keefe to be present, the adjournment was ordered. Mrs. Elchine was arrested on a charge of conducting a disorderly house. The bail furnished for their release still holds for their appearance in the Neenah justice court.

TREASURER SATISFIED WITH PAYMENT OF TAX

Appleton citizens are paying their taxes as rapidly this year as previously and City Treasurer Fred Bachman has announced he is well satisfied with the response. Up to Friday morning $73,342.73 had been collected with Thursday the biggest individual day, $15,113.04 having been brought into the city's coffers on that day.

There has been considerable demand for an extension of the dates on which taxes may be paid without penalty and a resolution asking for an extension to March 1 was brought before the city council at its meeting Wednesday night by Alderman Steinhauser. The motion will be acted on at the next council meeting.

WATER RUNS IN STREETS IN 1ST "JANUARY THAW"

Appleton was visited by the first "January thaw" of the new year Friday and weather forecasts indicate warm weather will remain at least another 24 hours. The weather man says there will be no decided change in temperature Friday night and Saturday.

The lowest temperature recorded Thursday night was 29 degrees above zero and as the mercury started to rise early in the morning the streets became covered with water from melting ice. At noon the mercury had climbed to 43 degrees in the shade.

CHURCH BODY WILL INSTALL OFFICERS

Expect 300 Members to Attend Ceremonies at St. Joseph Parish Hall Sunday

More than 300 members of the Holy Name society of St. Joseph church are expected to attend the annual banquet and installation of 1928 officers at 6 o'clock Sunday night in St. Joseph parish hall. The dinner will be served by the Christian Mothers' society before the installation ceremonies which are to be conducted by the Rev. Theodore Marth, pastor of the church and spiritual advisor of the organization. Members of the Young Ladies society, which serves monthly breakfasts to the organization throughout the year, will be the guests of the Holy Name society at the banquet.

J. J. Plank will preside at the program as toastmaster and the Rev. J. E. He-B of Stockbridge will give the main address. Miss Jeanette Plank will give a reading and Edwin Tillman will play several piano selections. New officers to be installed are: Louis Schwartz, president; Raymond Dohr, vice president; Theodore Dohr, financial secretary; Al Stogbauer, recording secretary; Ray Lang, treasurer; John Bergman, marshal; Ed Fischer, banter carrier.

PERSONALS

WILL HOLD HEARING ON NEW TELEPHONES AT MADISON JAN. 9

Commission Will Also Take Up Classification of Rates on Farm Products

Madison (AP)—Wisconsin is being represented at hearings being conducted throughout the middle west by the Interstate Commerce Commission to determine an equitable basis for class rate charges on livestock, grain, and other farm products.

P. H. Porter, a member of the state railroad commission, will attend a hearing conducted by the Interstate Commission in St. Paul on Jan. 9, which will deal with livestock class rates on cattle shipped to or from the packing centers of Kansas, City, Omaha, St. Paul and Chicago.

The Interstate Commerce body which is conducting its investigation under the Hoke Smith resolution passed two years ago by congress, is attempting to iron out the unevenness in class rate structure, Mr. Porter says.

The Wisconsin commission feels that the state is entitled to be placed on a basis comparable to Illinois and other states on the eastern border of the Western rate classification, rather than on a more western basis in the same group with the Dakotas, in which the carriers are attempting to place Wisconsin.

Similar hearings will be participated in by the Wisconsin commission at Chicago on Jan. 12, and at Kansas City on Jan. 23.

The state commission will hold a hearing in Madison Jan. 9, investigating the question of whether the Wisconsin Telephone Company shall be required to furnish hand set telephone instruments. The telephone had earlier undertaken to supply its subscribers with hand set phones at an increased rate. When the commission denied the higher rate, the commission is attempting to determine whether the telephone company may not be required to put in the improved equipment. A hearing on the same subject is to be held in Milwaukee Jan. 10.

On Jan. 12, in Madison, the commission will hear representatives of the Village of McFarland and the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad in controversy which has arisen from the charge by the village that the passenger train service furnished is inadequate.

FORMER LOCAL WOMAN IN MILWAUKEE CONCERT

A large audience heard Luella Melius, prima donna soprano, and Percy Grainger, world famous pianist-composer, Tuesday evening in the fourth of a series of six concerts sponsored by the Civic Concert association at the Auditorium, Milwaukee. Wisconsin is especially interested in and proud of Mme Melius, in as much as she formerly lived in Appleton.

She has a contralto voice of brilliance and flexibility which makes her mistress of the aria. Some of her outstanding selections were "Charmant Oiseau" from the "Pearl of Brazil," "Crepes-cules," "Shadow Song," "Homage to Spring," and "La Capricieuse."

BLACK CREEK MOTOR FIRM INCORPORATES

Articles of incorporation were filed with A. G. Koch, register of deeds, at the county courthouse Thursday for the Gehring Motor company, which is to operate in the village of Black Creek. Those who formed the incorporation are Paul V. Cary, G. J. Aitkenburg and Ralph L. Gehring. The firm has capital stock of $15,000 which is divided into 150 shares valued at $100 each. It will buy and sell automobiles, farm implements and machinery and also has the right to deal in real and personal property.

LOCAL DOGS BLAMED FOR STOCK RAVAGES

Chairman of Town of Grand Chute Writes to City Council About Matter

The canine population of Appleton have been responsible for considerable damage to animals and fowls while on their haunts to neighboring villages and the practice must be stopped, according to A. W. Laabs, chairman of the town of Grand Chute.

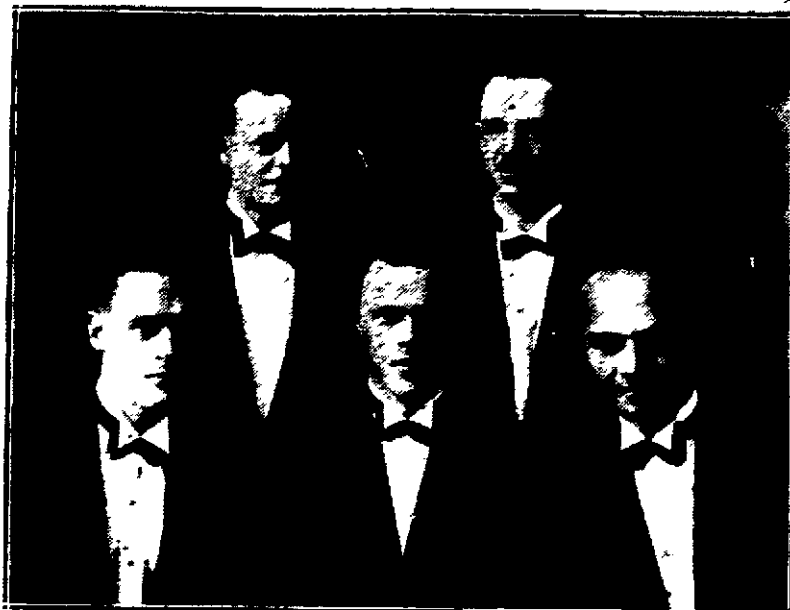

The fact that it was visiting dogs that did the dirty work and not Grand Chute animals is assumed because the village has been strict in enforcing the law calling for all dogs to wear licenses and those caught did not have tags, therefore they must have been canines from Appleton or some place else.

The matter has reached such a serious state that Mr. Laabs sent a letter to the Appleton city council asking that body to be strict in keeping their dogs home or making them wear their licenses so they can be identified if caught committing depredations.

It was estimated that $500 in damage had been caused during the last year. The letter stated that a cow and horse had been destroyed after contracting rabies from a dog bite and a whole flock of 50 chickens had been killed because of damage by dogs.

The city officials promised to take action on the matter and the appointment of a dog catcher during the coming summer probably will result.

SING HERE THIS MONTH

A varied program of vocal and instrumental music and readings will be presented for residents of Appleton at 8:15 Thursday evening, Jan. 26 at Lawrence Memorial chapel by the St. Olaf quintet of St. Olaf college, Northfield, Minn. The local concert is sponsored by Appleton Lutherans. The vocal numbers will include quartets, quartets and solos and the instrumental program is composed of saxophone quartets, piano solos and novelties. Paul G. Schmidt of Northfield is manager of the quintet.

Members of the quintet are Matthew Lyders, Obed Grunder, Luther Noss, Reuben Benson and Osgood Westley. All except Noss have been members of the St. Olaf Lutheran choir for four years. The organization has performed to large crowds throughout the northern, middle-west and western parts of the country.

STATE ASKS DELAY IN HORNER HEARING

Steidl Wants More Time to File Brief in Case Against Alleged Doctor

The preliminary hearing of William H. Horner, 117 E. Harris-st. charged with practicing medicine without a license, to have been held Thursday, has been postponed for a week on request of Stanley Steidl, assistant district attorney who asked for more time to prepare his brief. Horner claims that inasmuch as he previously was arrested, pleaded guilty and was fined he cannot be punished for the offense with which he is charged now. He was arrested on complaint of Richard Klumpers, 1109 N. Appleton-st. who charges that Horner treated his daughter, Margaret, 22.

Horner's attorney T. H. Ryan claims that Horner treated Miss Klumpers before he was arrested and fined and that because he pleaded guilty to the charge and paid the penalty he cannot again be made to suffer for the same offense. Mr. Steidl claims that each time Mr. Horner practiced medicine he committed a separate offense. The attorneys were instructed by Judge Theodore Berg of municipal court to file briefs.

WILL LAY TRACKS FOR NEW FREIGHT HOUSE

Relaying of Chicago and North-western railroad tracks for the new freight depot will probably start within a few days following receipt of two cars of material and one car of machinery for the construction company in charge of the work. The new track will cut in on the main line of the road near State-st. and run northeast to Division-st. The new construction will necessitate erection of a retaining wall at the point the tracks cross the ravine northeast of State-st.

that because he pleaded guilty to the charge and paid the penalty he cannot again be made to suffer for the same offense. Mr. Steidl claims that each time Mr. Horner practiced medicine he committed a separate offense. The attorneys were instructed by Judge Theodore Berg of municipal court to file briefs.

"I Never Knew They Could Be So Clean and White"

CAL-X, the new and perfected cleanser, water softener and soap-saver, holds many delightful surprises. It softens the hardest water instantly, dissolving immediately without a sign of residue of any kind.

CAL-X

develops the full cleansing properties of both the soap and water with which it is used, and consequently less boiling and rubbing are required. Dainty lingerie comes from the laundry, fresh, thoroughly clean and unimpaired. Try it. Your grocer now has a supply of CAL-X on hand.

FOR NEURALGIA

BAYER

ASPIRIN

You doubtless depend on Aspirin to make short work of headaches, but remember that it's just as dependable an antidote for many other pains! Neuralgia? Many have found real relief in a Bayer Aspirin tablet. Or for toothache; an effective way to relieve it, and the one thing doctors are willing you should give a child—of any age. Whether to break up a cold, or relieve the serious pain from neuritis or deep-seated rheumatism, there's nothing quite like Bayer Aspirin. Just make certain it's genuine; it must have Bayer on the box and on every tablet. All druggists, with proven directions.
